A. REMUNERATION POLICY OF THE COMPANY FOR THE CURRENT FINANCIAL YEAR

A.1.1 Explain the directors' remuneration policy applicable to the current financial year. If relevant, certain information may be included by reference to the remuneration policy approved by the general shareholders' meeting, provided its inclusion is clear, specific and precise.

Describe the specific determinations made by the board for the current financial year regarding the remuneration of the directors in their capacity as such and for the performance of executive duties pursuant to the contracts signed with executive directors and the remuneration policy approved by the general meeting.

The following details shall be provided in all cases:

- a) Description of the procedures and organs of the company involved in determining, approving and applying the remuneration policy and its conditions.
- b) Specify whether similar companies have been taken into account when establishing the company's remuneration policy.
- c) Specify whether any external advisors were involved and identify them.
- d) Identify the procedures followed under the current directors' remuneration policy to apply temporary exceptions to the policy, the conditions under which such exceptions may be applied, and the items that may be subject to exception under the policy.

When drawing up the directors' remuneration policy, Laboratorios Farmacéuticos Rovi, S.A. (ROVI), through the Appointments and Remuneration Committee (ARC), follows the general principle that director salaries should be those necessary to attract, retain and motivate directors who have the appropriate professional profiles to help the Company meet its strategic objectives. The policy is based on the following principles:

- Moderation and alignment with best market practices: ROVI tries to ensure that the remuneration of directors is moderate and in line with the trends and benchmarks established in its business sector or at companies of comparable size, activity or structure, so that it is in line with best market practices.
- Proportionality: Remuneration of external directors shall be as high as necessary to compensate for the commitment, qualifications and responsibility that the position requires, but not so high as to compromise the independent judgement of non-executive directors.
- Compatibility: The remuneration received by the directors for the performance of their duties on the Board shall be compatible with and independent of the remuneration and compensation established for directors who have executive functions at the Company or in its group.

The overall amount expected to be proposed to the next General Meeting for members of the Board for the performance of their duties as directors in the 2024 financial year is EUR 1 million, the same amount approved for all the Board members as such the previous financial year, as established in the current Remuneration Policy).

In terms of the basic principles of the remuneration policy of directors applicable to the previous year, the Company is planning to submit a new policy to the Ordinary General Shareholders' Meeting this year for approval, which will enter into force in 2025 (once the current policy expires at the end of 2024) and be in force for the financial years 2025, 2026 and 2027. However, the Company does not plan to introduce any substantive changes with respect to the current policy. (Continued in Section D)

A.1.2 The relative importance of variable with respect to fixed remuneration items (remuneration mix), and what criteria and objectives were taken into account in determining them to ensure an appropriate balance between fixed and variable remuneration items.

In particular, specify the actions taken by the company in relation to the remuneration system to reduce exposure to excessive risks and adapt it to the company's long-term objectives, values and interests, citing, where appropriate, any measures established to ensure that the remuneration policy addresses the company's long-term performance, measures taken in relation to categories of personnel whose professional activities have a material impact on the company's risk profile, and measures designed to prevent conflicts of interest.

Also, indicate whether the company has established any vesting or consolidation period for certain variable remuneration items in cash, shares or other financial instruments, a deferral period for the payment of amounts or delivery of financial instruments already accrued and vested, or whether any clause has been agreed to for the reduction of deferred remuneration not yet vested, or which obliges the director to repay remunerations already received, when such remunerations were based on data subsequently shown to be manifestly inaccurate.

The Company's remuneration policy, in terms of the weight of variable versus fixed remuneration items, has been and continues to be that the fixed remuneration of executive directors should represent a reasonable and balanced proportion of their total remuneration. Thus, in recent financial years (including the current one), a balanced proportion has (and will be) maintained for the amount of fixed versus the variable remuneration. Specifically, the combined annual bonus to be received by the executive directors in relation to the targets established each year will be up to 50% of the total fixed remuneration that the executive directors receive, overall, for the performance of their executive duties (with this percentage possibly rising to 60% if the established targets are exceeded) and depending on whether the targets established for the Group and for each director, individually, for the year are met.

Moreover, variable remuneration is exclusively intended for executive directors for the performance of their executive duties during the year. In other words, the Company's directors' remuneration policy does not provide for any variable remuneration of external directors.

The following are the measures or actions taken by the Company in relation to the directors' remuneration system to reduce exposure to excessive risks and adapt them to the Company's long-term objectives, values and interests:

- Proportion of fixed in relation to variable remuneration: The fixed remuneration items of the directors represent a reasonable and balanced proportion in relation to the variable items, thus maintaining an appropriate balance in the remuneration structure and promoting prudent risk management. In particular, in financial year 2024, the combined annual variable remuneration to be received by the executive directors will represent approximately 50% of the overall fixed remuneration received by the executive directors, as a whole, for the performance of executive duties.
- Restriction of variable remuneration to executive directors: Following corporate governance guidelines, variable remuneration items are restricted to executive directors, since they are among the most senior personnel whose professional activities have a material impact on the company's and the Group's risk profile.
- Long-term performance of the Company: When determining the variable remuneration of the executive directors, consideration is given to both the Company's organic growth as well as the increase in its value, among other factors, by means of establishing strategic alliances or making investments during the financial year that help the Company to reinforce the basis of its current and future growth. The development and capitalization of the investments made will also be taken into account. Other qualitative elements will also be taken into account. Among other factors, the Company's performance versus comparable companies, the overall market situation, or significant events with a favourable impact on the Company's income, as well as non-financial indicators of a social and environmental nature, or concerning climate change, and of compliance with corporate governance guidelines, codes of conduct and internal procedures (such as risk monitoring and management policies).
- Deferral of the payment of 30% of the annual variable remuneration of executive directors for a period of two years, 15% per year, for purposes of verifying that the targets established for the accrual of the variable remuneration have been met. In any case, the deferred amounts may be reduced or eliminated if a certain circumstances can be proven to have occurred, such as a serious breach of the ROVI Code of Ethics, or if there are qualified opinions in the auditor's report which reduce the results for the year.
- In addition, the contracts of the executive directors include clawback clauses that allow the Company to claim reimbursement of amounts paid as variable annual or multi-year remuneration if, within two years of such payment it is determined that the accounting, performance or financial data, or any other type of information on which such variable remuneration is based, is inaccurate to the detriment of the Company, or if the payment is not in line with the terms of performance of the executive director, regardless of whether the latter is in any way responsible for this or not, and the executive director shall be obliged to reimburse the Company for the excess variable remuneration received.
- Long-term incentive plan for executive directors, which also aims to reward the creation of value in the Group for purposes of aligning the interests of the shareholders with prudent risk management on a multi-year basis and generate long-term value for the Company and its Group. To verify that the director's targets have been effectively met, payment of this incentive is deferred based on the following payment structure: (i) 70% will be paid, as applicable, after verifying effective fulfilment of the targets established for the director in the plan, during the first quarter of the year following the conclusion of the latter; and (ii) the other 30% will be paid, as applicable during the first quarter of the second financial year after conclusion of the corresponding plan. This will be the case so long as certain circumstances are not proven to exist, such as a serious breach of ROVI's Code of Ethics by the beneficiary, or qualifications in the external auditor's report that reduce the Company's profits. In this case, the reduction in the long-term incentive will be proportional to the serious breach of ROVI's Code of Ethics by the director, or to the qualifications in the external auditor's report that reduce the Company's profits taken into account for the accrual of the long-term incentive.
- Regarding possible conflicts of interest, the Regulations of the Board of Directors at ROVI govern conflicts of interest and stipulate that they be disclosed to the Board by those involved, who shall abstain from deliberating and voting on the arrangement to which the conflict refers.

A.1.3 Amount and nature of the fixed items that directors are expected to accrue during the financial year in their capacity as such.

A maximum fixed annual remuneration of EUR 1 million (EUR 1 million also in 2023) will be submitted for approval to the General Meeting of the Company in the 2024 financial year for members of the Board of Directors as consideration for the performance of their duties as directors, with the aim of giving the Board the necessary flexibility to attract and retain talent among its members and giving the Company the ability to undertake a potential increase in the size of the Board during the term of this Remuneration Policy.

This amount, which must be approved by the General Shareholders' Meeting in accordance with the Company's Articles of Association, correspond to the remuneration of all of the directors combined due to their status as such. The Board of Directors will distribute this amount among its members taking into account the duties and responsibilities attributed to each director, membership on the Board's committees, and other objective circumstances deemed relevant. Other than that, ROVI's directors do not receive allowances for participating on the Board and its committees, nor other fixed remuneration as directors.

A.1.4 Amount and nature of the fixed items that executive directors are expected to accrue during the financial year for the performance of their senior management duties.

For the performance of their senior management duties in 2024, executive directors will receive the remuneration established in their contracts, which shall amount to a maximum overall amount of EUR 1,577,000 (in accordance with the provisions of the current remuneration policy), provided that the Board itself, following a favourable report from the Appointments and Remuneration Committee, approves any updates applicable and their distribution among the executive directors, evaluating, among other aspects, the financial performance and results obtained by the Company in the corresponding year and unless otherwise agreed by the General Shareholders' Meeting. Such remuneration includes fixed salary, life and disability insurance, contributions to pension plans and other compensation generally established for part of the Company's personnel. The fixed remuneration of executive directors, like that of other ROVI employees, is subject to review and update, taking into account the percentage regularly established in the applicable collective bargaining agreement (namely, the General Wage Agreement of the Chemical Industry).

A.1.5 Amount and nature of any in-kind-payment items that will be accrued during the financial year, including but not limited to insurance premiums paid for the director.

During the 2024 financial year, the directors are not expected to benefit from prudential schemes such as supplementary pensions, life insurance or similar plans, other than those corresponding to the executive directors for the performance of their executive duties during the year. Specifically, the remuneration of executive directors may be supplemented with other non-monetary compensation items (life and disability insurance, annual medical check-up, etc.) that are generally established for some of the company's personnel. In addition, executive directors receive benefits in kind from the private use of a company car that the Company leases, in the 2023 financial year, represented approximately EUR 31,100. The amount for this item is expected to be similar in the 2024 financial year. The total annual amount of payments made in the 2023 financial year for insurance premiums to the benefit of executive directors was approximately EUR 1,300. These insurance policies provide coverage for death by natural causes, accidental death, and total permanent disability due to accident or illness of any kind. The payments made for these items are expected to be the similar in the 2024 financial year.

A.1.6 Amount and nature of variable items, differentiating between short and long term. Financial and non-financial parameters, with the latter including social, environmental and climate change parameters selected to determine variable remuneration during the current financial year, describing to what extent such parameters are related to the performance of both the director and the company, and to its risk profile, and the methodology, the required timeframe and techniques foreseen to determine at the close of the financial year the effective degree of compliance with the parameters used in the design of variable remuneration, explaining the criteria and factors applied in terms of the time required and methods for verifying that the performance or other conditions to which the accrual and vesting of each variable remuneration item was linked have been effectively met.

Indicate the range in monetary terms of the different variable items according to the degree of fulfilment of the established objectives and parameters, and whether there is any maximum monetary amount in absolute terms.

Annual variable remuneration

Variable remuneration at ROVI aims to reward the creation of value in the Group for purposes of aligning the interests of the shareholders with prudent risk management and generate long-term value for the Company and its Group, and it is exclusively restricted to executive directors. In this regard, the variable remuneration of executive directors is determined on the basis of the degree of fulfilment of a series of quantitative and qualitative objectives set individually for each executive director, though some may be common to executive directors. The criteria for determining the annual variable remuneration (or bonus) corresponding exclusively to executive directors for 2024 are based on the following parameters:

- The evolution of the ROVI Group's operating income via a comparison of such income with the objectives budgeted and established in the Business Plan, as well as fulfilment of the strategic objectives stipulated in that Plan;
- The contribution to the Company's organic growth as well as the increase in its value, among other factors, by means of establishing strategic alliances or making investments during the financial year that help the Company to reinforce the basis of its current and future growth. The development and capitalization of the investments made will also be taken into account;
- Other qualitative elements will also be taken into account to determine the amount of the variable remuneration. Among other factors, the Company's performance versus comparable companies, the overall market situation, significant events with a favourable impact on the Company's income, or the overall assessment of the job performance of the directors, as well as non-financial indicators of a social and environmental nature, or concerning climate change, and of compliance with corporate governance guidelines, codes of conduct and internal procedures (such as risk monitoring and management policies);
- Finally, personal objectives may be established that take into account the strategy of the corresponding department or area, all within the framework of the Company's business objectives.

The settlement of the annual variable remuneration will take place after the end of the financial year and once ROVI's results are available.

For 2024, it is expected that each executive director will be assigned four annual targets, ensuring a balance between joint or group, departmental or divisional, and individual targets, 80% of which must be met to receive the variable remuneration, which may be paid out up to a maximum of 120% of variable remuneration on a straight-line basis if the targets are met. To promote a balance in the achievement of all of the annual variable remuneration targets, each executive director must meet 70% of all of the established targets combined, considered on a weighted basis.

Specifically, each executive director will be assigned two financial targets, one for the Group (relating to operating income), and another for his or her management area (relating to EBITDA), with a weighting of 40% and 25%, respectively, and another two individual qualitative objectives based on the development and, where applicable, implementation of strategic projects for the ROVI Group (with a weighting of 25%), and based on his or her commitment to social, environmental and climate change causes, and on compliance with corporate governance guidelines, codes of conduct and internal procedures (such as risk monitoring and management policies), the latter with a weighting of 10%.

The degree of achievement of the targets will be determined by the Appointments and Remuneration Committee (ARC) after the financial year ends and when the individual and consolidated income of the Group is available, after which the ARC will make a recommendation to the Board of Directors. To this end, the ARC will be assisted by the Company, which will provide it with proof that the various targets have been met, with validation by the corresponding departments for each of the established targets, as well as a report by an independent expert, although the final valuation and approval will in any case be carried out independently by the Board of Directors.

For purposes of verifying that the established targets for awarding the variable remuneration have been met, payment of 30% of the annual variable remuneration to executive directors will be deferred for a period of two years, 15% per year. The amounts of the annual variable remuneration that have been accrued and deferred may be reduced or eliminated if certain circumstances are proven to exist, such as a serious breach of ROVI's Code of Ethics by the beneficiary, or qualifications in the external auditor's report that reduce the Company's profits. In this case, the reduction in the annual variable remuneration will be proportional to the serious breach of ROVI's Code of Ethics by the director, or to the qualifications in the external auditor's report that reduce Company profits taken into account for the accrual of the long-term incentive.

As in the case of other senior executives, a variable incentive amount has been established for the executive directors for the 2024 financial year. The variable remuneration is linked to the Company's performance and the achievement of the established targets, which must align with corporate interests, and to the job performance of the beneficiaries, so that it is not simply related to the general performance of the markets, the Company's business sector, or other similar circumstances. The aim, as with other senior managers of the Group, is to establish competitive remuneration packages to attract and retain professional talent in the Group while establishing a link between remuneration and results and meeting the targets for the Company and the ROVI Group.

The combined annual bonus to be paid to the executive directors in relation to the fixed targets for 2024 has been estimated by the ARC to represent up to 50% of the total fixed remuneration received by the executive directors overall for the performance of executive duties, depending on the achievement of the targets established by the Group for each director at the beginning of the year, with this percentage possibly rising to 60% if the established targets are exceeded. The Board of Directors will determine the exact amount corresponding to each executive director, after receiving a report from the ARC, with the support of a report carried out by an independent expert, although the precise and final determination of the amount will be carried out independently by the Board of Directors.

Therefore, the maximum absolute amount that would result from the annual variable remuneration of the executive directors for 2024 would be EUR 788,500, potentially reaching EUR 946,200 in case the targets are exceeded.

In short, the annual variable remuneration of the executive directors is established to reward both individual contributions as well as those of the teams on which each of the directors serves, and the contributions of all of them to the results and the business of the Group.

- Multiannual variable remuneration

The General Shareholders' Meeting held on 17 June 2021 approved a new long-term incentive plan (now called the 2022-2024 Plan) as a continuation of the 2019-2021 plan, restricted exclusively to ROVI's executive directors, with a term of three years and, subject to the corresponding approval of the General Meeting, will be renewed once this term expires (in successive cycles), with the condition that the beneficiary works at the Company at the time of its payment, except in special cases (e.g., death, disability, or retirement).

The total amount to which the participant is entitled, if the latter meets 100% of the targets established in the long-term incentive plan, is 170% of his or her average fixed salary over the three years of the plan. The beneficiary may choose to have it paid out entirely in cash, entirely in ROVI shares, or through a mixed system of 50% cash and 50% shares, with 70% being paid out in the first quarter of 2025, and the remaining 30% in the first quarter of 2026, after effective verification that the director's targets have been met (the "Incentive"), except (i) in cases of early payment, in which case the Incentive will be paid out in cash, unless, at the beneficiary's request and if the Board of Directors determines that it may be paid out in shares, provided it does not consider that this harms the corporate interest; and (ii) in cases in which the financial metrics are extraordinarily exceeded, in which case the additional amount accrued due to this excess must be paid out in shares.

Events of early settlement include a change of control at the Company, in which case the Director will receive the total amount under the plan, assuming 100% of the fixed targets have been met, regardless of the percentage accrued on the date or at the moment of occurrence thereof. In the event of early settlement due to (i) the unilateral withdrawal by ROVI or a disciplinary dismissal of the Director that is declared or recognized as inadmissible in a final court ruling or by means of a court or out-of-court settlement before the responsible bodies in each case; or due to (ii) termination of the legal relationship by the Director due to a serious and culpable breach by ROVI of its obligations as employer under the provisions of the Workers Statute, upheld in a final court ruling, or by means of a court or out-of-court settlement before the responsible bodies in each case, payment of the accrued amount of the Incentive would be prorated over the number of days elapsed between the start of the plan and the date of the event that gave rise to the early settlement of the plan.

However, if shares are chosen as a partial or total payment of the Incentive, the director may not transfer ownership until a period of at least three years has elapsed. An exception is made for cases in which, at the time of the transfer, the director has a net financial exposure to variations in the share price for a market value equivalent to an amount of at least twice his or her fixed annual remuneration through the ownership of shares. The foregoing shall not apply to shares the director needs to sell to cover the costs related to their acquisition or, after a favourable assessment by the ARC, to meet extraordinary circumstances that require it.

The criteria for establishing this long-term incentive plan take into account the following parameters: a) an increase in the listed value of the Company's shares, taking into account the evolution of the stock price of comparable companies of the sector, which will have a relative weight of 40%; b) the evolution of the consolidated EBITDA of the ROVI Group, with a relative weight of 40%; c) qualitative elements, such as the maintenance of certification under ISO 14001 on environmental management and ISO 45001 on occupational health and safety management at the Company's industrial plants, with a relative weight of 10%; and d) compliance with Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP) to ensure the quality and safety of the products manufactured at the Company's industrial plants, with a relative weight of 10%.

In accordance with the provisions of the current remuneration policy, the aforementioned targets must be met to at least 80% to receive the respective Incentive, which may be paid out to a maximum of 120% of the total amount for which the participant is eligible under the plan, which consists of 170% of the average annual fixed salary of the director over the three-year term of the plan, computed on a straight-line basis if the targets are met up to the maximum levels. To promote a balance in the achievement of all of the targets for receiving the incentive, the degree of combined achievement of all of them must be 70%, considered on a weighted basis, over the term of the plan.

In addition, if the Incentive targets are exceeded (surpassing the maximum target level, i.e., 120%) in terms of the financial metrics, meaning an increase in the market price of the stock and an increase in the consolidated EBITDA of the ROVI Group, the executive directors shall accrue an extra amount equivalent to 200% of the average combined fixed salary of the three executive directors over the three-year term of the Plan, and this shall be paid out entirely in ROVI shares. The amount will be the same for the three ROVI executive directors and will be accrued and paid out together with this long-term incentive. The terms and conditions related to the targets, the clawback clause, the requirements for receiving the Incentive, early settlement and restrictions on the transfer of shares, will also apply to this bonus when targets are exceeded. Settlement of the bonus for exceeding the targets will be made entirely in ROVI shares and paid out in accordance with the Incentive deferral clause, all of the foregoing notwithstanding the provisions for cases of early settlement.

The ARC will assess the degree of achievement of the targets after the end of the three financial years covered by the incentive plan, and when the individual and consolidated income of the Company and its Group during those years is available, after which the ARC will make a recommendation to the Board of Directors. To this end, the ARC will be assisted by the Company, which will provide it with proof that the various targets have been met, with validation by the corresponding departments for each of the established targets, and supported by a report by an independent expert, although the final valuation and approval will be carried out independently by the Board of Directors.

A.1.7 Main characteristics of the long-term savings schemes. In addition to other information, indicate the contingencies covered by the system, whether it is a system of defined contributions or benefits, the annual contribution that has to be made to defined contribution systems, the benefit to which the recipients are entitled in the case of defined benefit systems, the terms for vesting the economic rights for the directors, and their compatibility with any type of payment or compensation for early termination or severance, or arising from the termination of the contractual relationship between the company and the director, under the established terms.

Indicate whether the accrual or vesting of any long-term savings schemes is linked to the meeting of certain targets or parameters related to the director's performance in the short or long term.

The Company makes annual contributions to Pension Plans held by the executive directors, through individual and defined contribution schemes, with coverage of contingencies such as retirement, disability, death and severe dependency.

In relation to the defined contribution plans, the Company makes pre-determined contributions to a separate institution and has no obligation to make additional contributions. The obligation is limited to the defined contribution commitment. Scheme participants may, on an individual basis, request the transfer of their vested and/or economic rights to another Pension Plan or Provident Scheme.

The maximum period for making such a transfer will be five days from receipt by the original institution of the request and the corresponding documentation. The vested rights are not available until the occurrence of one of the contingencies provided for in the specifications of the Scheme itself, or one of the exceptional liquidity events (serious illness or long-term unemployment).

As it has been doing for years, the Company plans to make contributions during 2024 to the aforementioned individual defined contribution pension plans for the executive directors, totalling no more than EUR 60,000 overall.

The accrual or vesting of the above defined contribution schemes is not linked to the achievement of targets or parameters related to the performance of the director in the short and long term, and is compatible with any type of compensation due to early termination or severance, or derived from the termination of the contractual relationship between the Company and the director.

The Company has no amount saved or accumulated for pension, retirement or similar benefits.

A.1.8 Any type of payment or indemnity for early termination or severance or arising from the termination of the contractual relationship between the company and the director under the established terms, whether the severance was at the will of the company or the director, and any other type of provisions agreed to, such as exclusivity, post-contractual non-compete, continuity or loyalty clauses, that entitles the director to any kind of payment.

As of the date of this report, there are no golden parachutes or indemnities agreed by ROVI in the event of termination the Company's directors, nor any of the agreements referred to in this section for directors in their capacity as such.

A.1.9 Indicate the terms that must be respected in the contracts of those who perform senior management duties as executive directors. Include information on the duration, the limits on the amounts of indemnifications, permanence clauses, notice periods, and payment in lieu of the aforementioned notice period, and any other clauses related to hiring bonuses, as well as indemnifications or golden parachutes for early termination or termination of the contract relationship between the company and the executive director.

Include, among others, the non-compete, exclusivity, permanence or loyalty, and post-contractual non-compete clauses or agreements, unless these have been explained in the previous section.

The executive directors have entered into ordinary employment contracts and service leasing contracts, as the case requires, for indefinite terms, and governing the performance of their senior management duties. Regarding the causes for terminating the contract and its consequences, the employment contracts refer to the provisions of the Workers Statute. The service leasing contracts provide for compensation of the director for termination of the contract relationship, the gross amount of which is equivalent to twice the arithmetic mean of the total annual remuneration accrued during each of the three full financial years immediately preceding the termination date of his or her contract, except in the event of (i) the resignation of the director for reasons other than those included in the contract, or (ii) withdrawal by the Company for breach by the director of his or her legal or contractual obligations, or those established by internal rules, or due to grounds for termination in accordance with labour laws (except for corporate dismissal). Regarding the notice periods, in both types of contracts, employment and the leasing of services, a period of 60 days is established for the director to terminate the contract, although in the event of non-compliance with this period, the director must compensate the Company with an amount equivalent to the remuneration corresponding to him/her for the unfulfilled notice period.

In addition, the contracts of all of the executive directors include a non-compete clause under which the director may not compete with the Company for a period of two years after the end of his or her contract, for which he or she receives compensation consisting of a gross amount equivalent to the arithmetic mean of the total annual remuneration earned during each of the last three full financial years immediately preceding the termination date of his or her contract.

To determine the compensation for the non-compete clause, as well as the compensation for termination of the service leasing contract, the items to be taken into account within the total annual remuneration will be the following: Fixed Remuneration, Allowances, Salary, Short-Term Variable Remuneration, Long-Term Incentive, Remuneration for Savings Systems, Life Insurance and other compensation established as an annual contribution to the company vehicle that the Company leases.

Termination or contractual termination payments include any payments for which the accrual or payment obligation arises as a result of or in connection with the termination of the director's contractual relationship with the company, including amounts not previously accrued from long-term savings schemes and amounts paid under post-contractual non-compete agreements. It should be noted that the terms of this provision are aligned with the changes introduced by the CNMV to the Good Governance Code in 2020 and which were included in the contracts of executive directors following a review completed at the end of the 2020 financial year.

Finally, all of the contracts include a clause that allows the Company to claim reimbursement of amounts paid as variable annual or multi-year remuneration if, within two years of such payment, it is determined that the accounting, performance or financial data, or any other type of information on which such variable remuneration is based, is inaccurate to the detriment of the Company, or if the payment is not in line with the terms of performance of the executive director, regardless of whether the latter is in any way responsible for this or not, and the executive director shall be obliged to reimburse the Company for the excess variable remuneration received (clawback clause).

A.1.10 The nature and estimated amount of any supplementary remuneration that will be accrued by the directors during the current financial year as consideration for various services provided other than those inherent to their post.

At the date of this report, there is no supplementary remuneration accrued by the directors in the current year as consideration for the provision of services other than those inherent to their post.

A.1.11 Other remuneration items such as any arising from the company granting the director advances, loans and guarantees, and other remuneration.

There is no remuneration foreseen in the form of advances, loans and guarantees to be granted to any director in the current financial year.

A.1.12 The nature and estimated amount of any other supplementary remuneration not included in the sections above, whether paid out by the company, or another company of the group, and which will be accrued by the directors in the current financial year.

There are no other remuneration items beyond those indicated above, notwithstanding any related-party transactions there may be with some of the directors, which are detailed in the Annual Corporate Governance Report, the annual financial statements, and the semi-annual financial report of the Company.

A.2. Explain any relevant change in the remuneration policy applicable in the current financial year arising from:

- a) A new policy, or amendment of the policy already approved by the General Meeting.
- b) Relevant changes to the specific determinations made by the board for the current financial year regarding the current remuneration policy with respect to those applied during the previous year.
- c) Proposals that the board of directors would have resolved to present to the general shareholders' meeting to which this annual report will be submitted, and which are intended to apply to the current financial year.

On 17 June 2021, the General Shareholders' Meeting approved the directors' remuneration policy, applicable during the 2022, 2023 and 2024 financial years. The policy was amended by the General Shareholders' Meeting of 14 June 2022.

The main new features included were: (i) the modification of the corporate years to which the new policy is applicable; (ii) the inclusion of references to the documentation to be included on the Company's website in relation to the remuneration policy; (iii) the inclusion of clarifications regarding the principles to be taken into account for the remuneration and employment conditions of the ROVI Group's employees; (iv) the incorporation of references to possible exceptions regarding the remuneration items provided for in the policy and their requirements in accordance with the provisions of the Corporate Enterprises Act; (v) the updating of the references to the long-term incentive plan to incorporate the terms and conditions of the latest plan approved by the General Meeting held on 17 June 2021 for financial years 2022 to 2024, and (vi) the inclusion of certain clarifications regarding the time at which the settlement of the annual variable remuneration of the executive directors takes place.

The Board of Directors intends to propose to the General Meeting the approval of a new policy which could enter into force in 2025 (as the duration of the current policy expires at the end of 2024) and which will be applicable to the years 2025, 2026 and 2027. However, the Company does not have plans to introduce any substantive changes with respect to the current Remuneration Policy.

A.3. Provide the direct link to the document containing the company's current remuneration policy, which should be available on the company's website.

The current Directors' Remuneration Policy is available on the corporate website through the following link: <https://rovi.es/sites/default/files/accionistas-inversores/gobierno-corporativo/6-Politica%20de%20Remuneraciones%20consejeros%20ROVI%202022-2024%20DEF.pdf>

A.4. Considering the information provided in section B.4, explain how the vote of the shareholders was taken into account at the general meeting at which the annual remuneration report of the previous year was submitted to a consultative nature.

The Annual Remuneration Report of the previous financial year was approved in a consultative vote by the Ordinary General Shareholders' Meeting of ROVI, with 97.5904% of the validly cast votes being in favour.

B. OVERALL SUMMARY OF HOW THE REMUNERATION POLICY WAS APPLIED DURING THE PREVIOUS FINANCIAL YEAR

B.1.1 Explain the procedure followed to implement the remuneration policy and determine the individual remuneration items reflected in section C of this report. This information shall include the role played by the remuneration committee, the decisions taken by the board of directors and, where applicable, the identity and role of the external advisors whose services were used in the process for applying the remuneration policy in the last financial year.

On 14 June 2023, the General Shareholders Meeting of ROVI approved a total maximum annual remuneration of EUR 1 million for members of the Board of Directors, in their capacity as such, for the 2023 financial year.

The General Meeting authorized the Board of Directors to distribute this amount among its members, taking into account the duties and responsibilities attributed to each director, their seats on Board Committees, and other objective circumstances deemed relevant.

Therefore, the Board of Directors distributed among its members EUR 660,000 of the maximum amount of EUR 1 million approved by the General Meeting for the members of the Board of Directors as fixed annual remuneration in the 2023 financial year for the performance of their duties as directors, and this was allotted taking into account the duties and responsibilities of each director, their seats on Board Committees, and other objective circumstances deemed relevant, all based on the recommendation of the Appointments and Remuneration Committee.

In addition, the Board resolved to distribute the total fixed annual remuneration of EUR 1,500,000 to the executive directors as compensation for the performance of their executive and senior management duties, pursuant to the provisions of their executive contracts and the terms and conditions agreed to with the Company, taking into account the duties and responsibilities carried out by each director, all based on the recommendation submitted by the Appointments and Remuneration Committee (ARC). Once the corresponding adjustments were made pursuant to their contracts, the executive directors received a total amount of EUR 1,243,000 as total fixed remuneration.

Regarding the variable incentive amount for the executive directors, the Board carried out the distribution of EUR 447,000, at the recommendation of the ARC, taking into account the Company's income relative to 2023 and the targets set for each director.

This fully vested amount corresponds with 70% of the annual variable remuneration accrued and vested during the 2023 financial year, 15% of the remuneration accrued in the 2022 financial year, and 15% of the remuneration accrued in the 2021 financial year. In particular, in the financial year 2023, there was an overall achievement of the targets set of 112%.

To assign these amounts to the executive directors, the following targets were taken into account: (i) The evolution of the ROVI Group's operating income via a comparison of such income with the objectives budgeted and established in the Business Plan, as well as fulfilment of the strategic objectives stipulated in that Plan; (ii) the results obtained by the different management areas for which each of the executive directors is responsible; (iii) the development and, where applicable, the implementation of strategic projects for the ROVI Group; and (iv) individual targets applied in each area based on non-financial indicators of a social and environmental nature, or concerning climate change, and in compliance with corporate governance guidelines, codes of conduct and internal procedures (such as risk monitoring and management policies). Specifically, the qualitative targets of a social, environmental, and corporate governance nature referred in the 2023 financial year to the modification and update of the Protocol for the prevention and treatment of cases of sexual harassment in the ROVI Group, the provision for the workforce of training on equality and the prevention of sexual and moral harassment, the 100% offset of CO2 emissions and the scope 1 and 2 of the carbon footprint generated by the ROVI Group from its activity, ensuring that 100% of electrical continues to be from renewable sources in the industrial plants and office buildings of the ROVI Group in Spain, and the satisfactory results of the quarterly internal audits on compliance with the Pharmaceutical Industry's Code of Good Practices.

B.1.2 Explain any deviations during the financial year from the established procedure for implementing the remuneration policy.

N/A

B.1.3 Indicate whether any temporary exceptions have been applied to the remuneration policy and, if they have, explain the exceptional circumstances that led to the application of these exceptions, the specific items of the remuneration policy that were affected, and the reasons for which the company believes these exceptions were necessary to serve the long-term interests and sustainability of the company as a whole, or to ensure its viability. Also, quantify the impact that applying these exceptions had on the remuneration of each director during the financial year.

N/A

B.2. Explain the different actions taken by the company in relation to the remuneration system and how they helped reduce exposure to excessive risks and adapt it to the company's long-term objectives, values and interests, including a reference to the measures taken to ensure that the remuneration accrued corresponded to the long-term performance of the company, achieving an appropriate balance between the fixed and variable remuneration items, and what measures were taken in relation to the categories of personnel whose professional activities have a material impact on the company's risk profile, and what measures were taken to prevent any conflicts of interest.

The following are the measures or actions taken by the Company in relation to the directors' remuneration system to reduce exposure to excessive risks and adapt it to the Company's long-term objectives, values and interests:

- Proportion between fixed and variable remuneration: The fixed remuneration items of the directors represent a reasonable and balanced proportion in relation to the variable items, thus maintaining an appropriate balance in the remuneration structure and promoting prudent risk management. Specifically, in 2023, the overall variable annual remuneration accrued and consolidated by the executive directors represented 36% of the fixed remuneration received in said financial year.
- Restriction of variable remuneration to executive directors: Following corporate governance guidelines, variable remuneration items are restricted to executive directors, since they are among the personnel whose professional activities have a material impact on the company's and the Group's risk profile.
- Long-term performance of the Company: When determining the variable remuneration of the executive directors, consideration is given to both the Company's organic growth as well as the increase in its value, among other factors, by means of establishing strategic alliances or making investments during the financial year that help the Company to reinforce the basis of its current and future growth. Other qualitative elements will also be taken into account. Among other factors, the Company's performance versus comparable companies, the overall market situation, or significant events with a favourable impact on the Company's income, as well as non-financial indicators of a social and environmental or climate-change nature and of compliance with corporate governance guidelines, codes of conduct and internal procedures (such as risk monitoring and management policies).
- Deferral of the payment of 30% of the annual variable remuneration of executive directors for a period of two years, 15% per year, for purposes of verifying that the targets established for the accrual of the variable remuneration have been met.
- In addition, the contracts of the executive directors include clawback clauses that allow the Company to claim reimbursement of amounts paid as variable annual or multi-year remuneration if, within two years of such payment it is determined that the accounting, performance or financial data, or any other type of information on which such variable remuneration is based, is inaccurate to the detriment of the Company, or if the payment is not in line with the terms of performance of the director, regardless of whether the latter is in any way responsible for this or not, and the executive director shall be obliged to reimburse the Company for the excess variable remuneration received.
- Long-term incentive plan for executive directors, which also aims to reward the creation of value in the Group for purposes of aligning the interests of the shareholders with prudent risk management on a multi-year basis and generate long-term value for the Company and its Group. To verify that the director's targets have been effectively met, payment of this incentive is deferred based on the following payment structure: (i) 70% will be paid, as applicable, after verifying effective fulfilment of the targets established for the director in the plan, during the first quarter of the year following the conclusion of the latter; and (ii) the other 30% will be paid, as applicable during the first quarter of the second financial year after conclusion of the corresponding plan. This will be the case so long as certain circumstances are not proven to exist, such as a serious breach of ROVI's Code of Ethics by the beneficiary, or there are qualifications in the external auditor's report that reduce the Company's profits. In this case, the reduction in the incentive will be proportional to the serious breach of ROVI's Code of Ethics by the Director, or to the qualifications in the external auditor's report that reduce Company profits taken into account for the accrual of the long-term incentive.
- Regarding possible conflicts of interest, the articles 26 and 28 of the Regulations of the Board of Directors at ROVI govern conflicts of interest and stipulate that they be disclosed to the Board by those involved, who shall abstain from deliberating and voting on the transaction to which the conflict refers. In any case, the fact that the executive directors have an indirect participation in the Company's share capital helps to reduce the existence of potential conflicts of interest which may normally arise between the interests of senior executives and those of the shareholders.

B.3. Explain how the remuneration accrued and vested in the financial year complies with the provisions of the current remuneration policy and, specifically, how it contributes to the long-term and sustainable performance of the company.

Also, provide information on the relationship between the remuneration paid to the directors and the income or other short-term and long-term performance measures of the company, explaining, where applicable, how variations in the company's performance have been able to influence variations in the remuneration of the directors, including the payment of remuneration that would have been deferred, and how this affected the short- and long-term performance of the company.

The remuneration accrued in 2023 by ROVI's directors complies with the provisions of the Remuneration Policy insofar as the amounts accrued fall within the maximum annual amount approved by the General Shareholders' Meeting for 2023 and correspond to the distribution approved by the Board of Directors. In addition, the various remuneration items provided for in the aforementioned Remuneration Policy and in the contracts signed with the executive directors have been taken into account.

Moreover, considering that the variable incentive is distributed according to the degree of achievement of certain targets (including, for example, the evolution of the ROVI Group's operating income), the annual remuneration of the executive directors is adjusted to the variations that may occur in the Company's performance. As indicated above, the executive directors of ROVI, as senior managers of the Company and its Group, have established a system of short-term variable remuneration which may represent a maximum of 50% of the overall fixed remuneration received by executive directors for the performance of executive duties (60% in the event targets are exceeded) and is linked to the Company's returns, among other qualitative and quantitative parameters, so that, in principle, there is a direct correlation between variations in the Company's performance and variations in the variable remuneration of these executive directors.

In any case, the annual variable remuneration of the executive directors represents 0.05% of the Group's operating income for the 2023 financial year, which is in line with the 0.05% and 0.07% of the Group's operating income for the 2022 and 2021 financial years, respectively.

Regarding the long-term incentive plan (2022-2024) of which the executive directors are also beneficiaries, as we explained in other sections of this report, the parameters that were taken into account to establish targets were the increases in the listed value of the Company's shares – taking account of trends in the share price of comparable companies of the sector – and the evolution of the ROVI Group's business results, such as the consolidated EBITDA of the Rovi Group during the plan's term, margin or income, during the plan's term, so that variations in the performance of the Company and its Group had a determining influence on the amount of the remuneration to be received by the executive directors in relation to this plan, apart from other parameters of a qualitative nature.

In addition, the ratio of the overall remuneration accrued by the executive directors for the performing of their executive duties, to the consolidated net profit obtained by the ROVI Group in the 2023 financial year taking into account the proportional part of the long-term incentive plan (2022-2024), is 1.24%. All of the above indicates that the application of the Remuneration Policy contributes to the Company's sustainable and long-term performance.

B.4. Report on the result of the consultative vote of the general meeting on the annual remuneration report for the previous year, indicating the number of abstentions and negative, blank and affirmative votes cast:

	Number	% of the total
Votes cast	46,584,352	86.24
	Number	% of the votes cast
Negative votes	1,100,979	2.36
Affirmative votes	45,461,862	97.59
Blank votes		0.00
	Number	% of the votes cast
Abstentions	21,511	0.05

Remarks

B.5. Explain how the fixed items accrued and vested during the financial year were determined by the directors in their capacity as such, the relative proportion thereof in relation to each director, and how they varied with respect to the previous year.

During the 2023 financial year, the following fixed items were accrued for the directors in their capacity as such:

Chairman of the Board: EUR 180,000.

Board member: EUR 80,000 for each director.

With the exception of the Chairman (whose remuneration represented 27.3% of the total received by the Board of Directors), all of the directors receive the same remuneration in their capacity as such, accounting for 12.1% each of the total received by the Board of Directors.

As indicated in Section B.1, to determine the aforementioned fixed items, it was taken into account that the General Shareholders' Meeting of ROVI held on 14 June 2023 resolved to establish a total maximum annual remuneration for members of the Board of Directors, in their capacity as such, for the 2023 financial year of EUR 1 million. Based on this maximum figure, the Board of Directors, on the recommendation of the ARC, resolved to distribute the amounts indicated in the tables of section C below to its members, taking into account the duties and responsibilities assigned to each director and the seats they hold on Board Committees.

In the previous financial year (2022), the remuneration of the Chairman and the rest of the Board members, in their capacity as such, were the same, with no change with respect to the previous year.

B.6. Explain how the salaries accrued and vested during the last financial year were determined by each of the executive directors for the performance of management duties, and how they varied with respect to the previous year.

In 2023, under the terms and conditions agreed to between the executive directors and the Company in their corresponding employment and service leasing contracts, a total fixed remuneration of EUR 1,242,660 was distributed among the executive directors for the performance of their executive and senior management duties, taking into account the duties and responsibilities carried out by each director.

The fixed remuneration of the executive directors for the financial year included the fixed salary, life and disability insurance, contributions to pension plans and other compensation generally established for some of the Company's personnel. (e.g., medical check-up and private use of a company vehicle the Company leases).

Specifically, the distribution was as follows:

- Mr. Juan López-Belmonte Encina, EUR 744,928.
- Mr. Javier López-Belmonte Encina, EUR 250,294.
- Mr. Iván López-Belmonte Encina, EUR 247,438.

In the previous financial year (2022), a total fixed remuneration of EUR 1,218,661 was distributed between the executive directors for the performance of their executive and senior management duties, taking into account the duties and responsibilities performed by each director. Specifically, the distribution was as follows:

- Mr. Juan López-Belmonte Encina, EUR 729,786.
- Mr. Javier López-Belmonte Encina, EUR 245,947.
- Mr. Iván López-Belmonte Encina, EUR 242,928.

Therefore, there were no significant variations in the remuneration of the directors in the 2023 financial year for the performance of their executive duties with respect to 2022.

B.7. Explain the nature and the main principles of the variable items accrued and vested under the remuneration systems in the last financial year.

In particular:

- a) Identify each of the remuneration plans used to determine the different variable remuneration items accrued by each of the directors during the last financial year, including information on their scope, date of approval, date of implementation, any vesting conditions, accrual periods and the term, the criteria used to evaluate performance and how that impacted the determination of the variable amount accrued, as well as the measurement criteria used and the period required to be able to adequately measure all of the stipulated conditions and criteria, explaining in detail the criteria and factors applied regarding the required time and methods to verify whether the performance conditions, or any other condition linked to the accrual and vesting of each variable remuneration item, were effectively met.
- b) In the case of plans for stocks options or other financial instruments, the general characteristics of each plan shall include information on the conditions for both acquiring their unconditional ownership (vesting) and the ability to exercise such options or financial instruments, including the price and the period for exercising them.
- c) Each of the directors, and their categories, (executive directors, external proprietary directors, external independent directors or other external directors), who are beneficiaries of the remuneration systems or plans that include variable remuneration.
- d) Where applicable, information shall be provided on the accrual or payment deferral periods that have been applied and/or the retention/non-disposal periods for stocks or other financial instruments, if any.

Explain the short-term variable items of the remuneration system:

Annual variable remuneration

Variable remuneration at ROVI aims to reward the creation of value in the Group for purposes of aligning the interests of the shareholders with prudent risk management and generate long-term value for the Company and its Group, and it is exclusively restricted to executive directors. In this regard, the variable remuneration of executive directors is determined on the basis of the degree of fulfilment of a series of quantitative and qualitative objectives.

The criteria for determining the annual variable remuneration (or bonus) corresponding exclusively to executive directors in the 2023 financial year were based on the following parameters: a) The evolution of the ROVI Group's operating income via a comparison of such income with the objectives budgeted and established in the Business Plan, as well as fulfilment of the strategic objectives stipulated in that Plan; b) In addition to this quantitative reference, an assessment was made of the Company's organic growth as well as the increase in its value, among other factors, by means of establishing strategic alliances or making investments during the financial year that help the Company to reinforce the basis of its current and future growth. The development and capitalization of the investments made was also taken into account; c) Finally, other qualitative elements will also be taken into account to assess the amount of the variable remuneration, including the Company's performance versus comparable companies, the overall market situation, significant events with a favourable impact on the Company's income, or the overall assessment of the job performance of the directors, as well as non-financial indicators of a social and environmental nature, or concerning climate change. In addition, in the 2023 financial year personal targets were established, with each considered individually and in accordance with their overall relevance, pursuant to the strategy of the corresponding department or area and the business objectives of the company. Specifically, each executive director was assigned two financial targets, one for the Group (relating to operating income), and another for his or her management area (relating to EBITDA), with a weighting of 40% and 25%, respectively, and another two individual qualitative objectives based on the development and, where applicable, implementation of strategic projects for the ROVI Group (with a weighting of 25%), and based on his or her commitment to social, environmental and climate change causes, and of compliance with corporate governance guidelines, codes of conduct and internal procedures (such as risk monitoring and management policies), the latter with a weighting of 10%. Specifically, the qualitative targets of a social, environmental, and corporate governance nature referred in the 2023 financial year, the modification and update of the Protocol for the prevention and treatment of cases of harassment (moral and sexual) in the Rovi Group, the provision of training to the workforce on equality and the prevention of sexual and moral harassment, the 100% offset of scope 1 and 2 CO2 carbon footprint emissions generated by the Rovi Group from its activity, maintenance of 100% of electrical energy from renewable sources in the Rovi Group's industrial plants and office buildings in Spain, and the satisfactory results of the quarterly internal audits on compliance with the Pharmaceutical Industry's Code of Good Practices.

The degree of achievement of the targets was determined by the ARC once the financial year ended and based on the individual and consolidated income of the Group, after which the ARC made the corresponding recommendation to the Board of Directors. To this end, the ARC was assisted by the Company, which provided it with proof that the various targets had been met, with validation by the corresponding departments in relation to each of the established targets, and by a report by an independent expert, although the final approval will in any case be determined independently by the Board of Directors.

For purposes of verifying that the established targets for awarding the variable remuneration have been met, payment of 30% of the annual variable remuneration to executive directors is deferred for a period of two years, 15% per year.

The amounts of the annual variable remuneration that have been accrued and deferred may be reduced or eliminated if certain circumstances are proven to exist, such as a serious breach of ROVI's Code of Ethics by the beneficiary, or qualifications in the external auditor's report that reduce the Company's profits. In this case, the reduction in the incentive will be proportional to the serious breach of ROVI's Code of Ethics by the Director, or to the qualifications in the external auditor's report that reduce Company's profits taken into account for the accrual of the long-term incentive.

Therefore, the amount of the annual variable remuneration of the executive directors accrued in 2023 was EUR 451,000 (with an overall degree of achievement of 112% of the objectives set out), with the following distribution among the executive directors, the exact determination of which corresponded to the Board of Directors:

- Mr. Juan López-Belmonte Encina, EUR 171,054.
- Mr. Javier López-Belmonte Encina, EUR 139,750.
- Mr. Iván López-Belmonte Encina, EUR 139,750.

However, given that, as indicated earlier, 30% of the annual variable remuneration is not vested, since its payment is deferred for a period of two years, the amount of the annual variable remuneration of the executive directors vested in 2023 represents 70% of the annual variable remuneration accrued and vested in the 2023 financial year, 15% of the remuneration accrued in the 2022 financial year, and 15% of the remuneration accrued in the 2021 financial year, the total amount of which was EUR 447,000, distributed as follows:

- Mr. Juan López-Belmonte Encina, EUR 169,861.
- Mr. Javier López-Belmonte Encina, EUR 138,775.
- Mr. Iván López-Belmonte Encina, EUR 138,775.

Explain the long-term variable items of the remuneration systems:

Multi-year variable remuneration (2022-2024)

Currently in force is a long-term incentive plan (2022-2024), restricted exclusively to ROVI executive directors, with a term of three years and, subject to the corresponding approval of the General Meeting, will be renewed once this term expired (successive cycles), with the condition that the beneficiary works at the Company at the time of its payment, except in special cases (e.g., death, disability, or retirement). This plan was approved by the General Shareholders' meeting on 17 June 2021, at the recommendation of the ARC and the Board, and it was developed with advice from PricewaterhouseCoopers Tax & Legal, S.L.

The total amount to which the participant is entitled, if the latter meets 100% of the targets established in the long-term incentive plan, is 170% of his or her average fixed salary over the three years of the plan. The beneficiary may choose to have it paid out entirely in cash, entirely in ROVI shares, or through a mixed system of 50% cash and 50% shares, with 70% being paid out in the first quarter of 2025, and the remaining 30% in the first quarter of 2026, after effective verification that the director's targets have been met (the "Incentive"), except (i) in cases of early payment, in which case the Incentive will be paid out in cash, unless, at the beneficiary's request and if the Board of Directors determines that it may be paid out in shares, provided it does not consider that this harms the corporate interest; and (ii) in cases in which the financial metrics are extraordinarily exceeded, in which case the additional amount accrued due to this excess must be paid out in shares.

Events of early settlement include a change of control at the Company, in which case the Director will receive the total amount under the plan, assuming 100% of the fixed targets have been met, regardless of the percentage accrued on the date or at the moment of occurrence thereof. In the event of early settlement due to (i) the unilateral withdrawal by ROVI or a disciplinary dismissal of the Director that is declared or recognized as inadmissible in a final court ruling or by means of a court or out-of-court settlement before the responsible bodies in each case; or due to (ii) termination of the legal relationship by the Director due to a serious and culpable breach by ROVI of its obligations as employer under the provisions of the Workers Statute, upheld in a final court ruling, or by means of a court or out-of-court settlement before the responsible bodies in each case, payment of the accrued amount of the Incentive would be prorated over the number of days elapsed between the start of the plan and the date of the event that gave rise to the early settlement of the plan.

However, if shares are chosen as a partial or total payment of the Incentive, the director may not transfer ownership until a period of at least three years has elapsed. An exception is made for cases in which, at the time of the transfer, the director has a net financial exposure to variations in the share price for a market value equivalent to an amount of at least twice his or her fixed annual remuneration through the ownership of shares. The foregoing shall not apply to shares the director needs to sell to cover the costs related to their acquisition or, after a favourable assessment by the ARC, to meet extraordinary circumstances that require it.

The criteria for establishing this long-term incentive plan take into account the following parameters: a) an increase in the listed value of the Company's shares, taking into account the evolution of the stock price of comparable companies of the sector, which will have a relative weight of 40%; b) the evolution of the consolidated EBITDA of the ROVI Group, with a relative weight of 40%; c) qualitative elements, such as the maintenance of certification under ISO 14001 on environmental management and ISO 45001 on occupational health and safety management at the Company's industrial plants, with a relative weight of 10%; and d) compliance with Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP) to ensure the quality and safety of the products manufactured at the Company's industrial plants, with a relative weight of 10%.

Each of the aforementioned targets must be met to at least 80% to receive the respective Incentive, which may be paid out to a maximum of 120% of the total amount for which the participant is eligible under the plan, which consists of 170% of the average annual fixed salary of the director over the three-year term of the plan, computed on a straight-line basis if the targets are met up to the maximum levels. To promote a balance in the achievement of all of the targets for receiving the incentive, the degree of combined achievement of all of them must be 70%, considered on a weighted basis, over the term of the plan.

In addition, if the Incentive targets are exceeded (surpassing the maximum target level, i.e., 120%) in terms of the financial metrics, meaning an increase in the market price of the stock and an increase in the consolidated EBITDA of the ROVI Group, the executive directors shall accrue an extra amount equivalent to 200% of the average combined fixed salary of the three executive directors over the three-year term of the Plan, and this shall be paid out entirely in ROVI shares. The amount will be the same for the three ROVI executive directors and will be accrued and paid out together with this long-term incentive. The terms and conditions related to the targets, the clawback clause, the requirements for receiving the Incentive, early settlement and restrictions on the transfer of shares, will also apply to this bonus when targets are exceeded. Settlement of the bonus for exceeding the targets will be made entirely in ROVI shares and paid out in accordance with the Incentive deferral clause, all of the foregoing notwithstanding the provisions for cases of early settlement.

The ARC will assess the degree of achievement of the targets after the end of the three financial years covered by the incentive plan, and when the individual and consolidated income of the Company and its Group during those years is available, after which the ARC will make a recommendation to the Board of Directors. To this end, the ARC will be assisted by the Company, which will provide it with proof that the various targets have been met, with validation by the corresponding departments for each of the established targets, and approved by a report by an independent expert, though the final valuation and approval will in any case be carried out independently by the Board of Directors.

B.8. Indicate whether any accrued variable items have been reduced or clawed back when, in the first case, the payment of non-vested amounts has been deferred or, in the second case, vested and paid based on data that has subsequently been proven to be manifestly inaccurate. Describe the amounts reduced or repaid with enforcement of the malus or clawback clauses, why they have been enforced and the financial years to which they correspond.

During the 2023 financial year, there was no reduction or clawback of variable items, nor have any amounts been reduced or repaid due to the enforcement of clawback clauses.

B.9. Explain the main characteristics of the long-term savings schemes for which the amount and equivalent annual costs are figured in the tables of Section C, including retirement and any other survivor's benefits that are funded, partially or fully, by the company, whether internally or externally, indicating the type of plan, whether it is a defined contribution or benefit plan, the contingencies it covers, the conditions for vesting the economic rights in favour of the directors, and their compatibility with any other type of compensation for early termination, or termination of the contractual relationship between the company and the director.

The Company makes annual contributions to Pension Plans held by the executive directors, through individual and defined contribution schemes, with coverage of contingencies such as retirement, disability, death and severe dependency.

In relation to the defined contribution plans, the Company makes pre-determined contributions to a separate entity and has no obligation to make additional contributions. The obligation is limited to the defined contribution commitment. Scheme participants may, on an individual basis, request the transfer of their vested and/or economic rights to another Pension Plan or Provident Scheme.

The maximum period for making such a transfer will be five days from receipt by the original entity of the request with the corresponding documentation. The vested rights are not available until the occurrence of one of the contingencies provided for in the specifications of the Scheme itself, or one of the exceptional liquidity events (serious illness or long-term unemployment).

In 2023, the Company made contributions to the individual defined contribution pension plans for the executive directors for a total amount of EUR 4,500. The Company has no amount saved or accumulated for pension, retirement or similar benefits.

B.10. Explain any indemnifications or other type of payments resulting from early severance, whether at the will of the company or of the director, or the termination of the contract under the terms provided therein and accrued and/or received by the directors during the last financial year.

During the 2023 financial year, there have been no accruals or payments for this reason to directors.

B.11. Indicate whether there have been any significant amendments to the contracts of those performing senior management duties as executive directors and, if so, explain them. Also, explain the main conditions of the new contracts signed with the executive directors during the financial year, unless they were already explained in section A.1.

During 2023, there were minor changes to the contracts of the executive directors to bring them into line with the current Remuneration Policy for the Company's directors, and in particular, the annual variable remuneration scheme described above.

B.12. Explain any supplementary remuneration accrued by the directors as consideration for various services provided other than those inherent to their post.

During the 2023 financial year, there was no supplementary payment to any of the directors as consideration for services provided other than those inherent to their post.

B.13. Explain any remuneration resulting from the granting of advances, loans and guarantees, indicating the interest rate, their essential characteristics and any amounts repaid, as well as the obligations assumed by way of guarantee.

No remuneration was vested or paid in the 2023 financial year in the form of advances, loans and guarantees granted to any director.

B.14. Detail the in-kind remuneration accrued by the directors during the financial year, briefly explaining the nature of the various salary items.

Executive directors receive non-monetary compensation (life insurance, annual medical check-up, etc.), which is generally established for some of the company's staff. Executive directors also receive in-kind remuneration in the form of the private use of a company car that the Company leases.

B.15. Explain remunerations accrued by a director from payments made by the listed company to a third-party entity at which a director provides service when such payments are intended to remunerate the services of the latter at the company.

[No payments of this nature were made during the 2023 financial year.]

B.16. Explain and detail amounts accrued during the financial year in relation to any remuneration item other than those mentioned above, whatever their nature or the group's company that pays it, including all benefits of any type, such as any considered related-party transactions, particularly when this significantly affects the true picture of the total remuneration items accrued by the director, and explain the amount that was granted or pending payment, the nature of the consideration received, and the reasons it may not have been considered remuneration of the director in his or her capacity as such or as consideration for the performance of his or her executive duties, and whether or not it was deemed appropriate to include it among the accrued amounts under the "other items" heading of Section C.

[There are no other remuneration items beyond those above, notwithstanding any related-party transactions with any of the executive directors that are detailed in the Annual Corporate Governance Report, the annual financial statements and the semi-annual financial statement of the Company.]

Remarks

During the financial year 2022, Ms. Teresa Corzo Santamaría was a member of the Board of Directors from 14 December 2022.
 During the financial year 2022, Ms. Marina del Corral Téllez was a member of the Board of Directors from 10 May 2022.
 During the financial year 2019, Ms. Fátima Báñez García was a member of the Board of Directors from 20 December 2019.
 During the financial year 2019, Mr. Marcos Peña Pinto was a member of the Board of Directors from 9 May 2019.

With regard to the changes in the total amounts accrued to executive directors in 2021, there has been an increase as a result of the vesting of the three-year long-term incentive plan 2019-2021.

D. OTHER INFORMATION OF INTEREST

Briefly describe any relevant aspect of directors' remuneration that has not been included in the other sections of this report, but which is necessary to include in order to provide more complete and reasoned information on the company's remuneration system and practices in relation to its directors.

Under Article 45 of the Articles of Association, the members of the Board of Directors are entitled to be remunerated with a fixed annual amount in cash for the performance of their duties, with the maximum amount for the Board as a whole being determined by the General Meeting. The Board, after receiving a report from the ARC, shall distribute this remuneration among its members individually, in their capacity as such, as established by the General Meeting, within the framework of the Articles of Association and the remuneration policy, which shall set at least the maximum amount of the annual remuneration to be paid to all of the directors in their capacity as such, and establish the criteria for its distribution, taking into account the duties and responsibilities assigned to each director, their participation on the Board's committees, and other objective circumstances that the Board deems relevant. The Board is also responsible for determining the individual remuneration of each director for the performance of the executive duties they are assigned within the framework of the remuneration policy, and under the terms of his or her contract, after receiving a report from the ARC.

In addition, a variable incentive will be established for the executive directors for the 2024 financial year that is linked to the Company's performance, the achievement of established targets that must be aligned with the corporate interests, and to their job performance, so that it is not simply related to the general performance of the markets, the Company's business sector, or other similar circumstances.

In addition, the executive directors were included in a long-term incentive plan in 2021, which is a continuation of the 2019-2021, which aims to reward the creation of value for purposes of aligning the interests of the shareholders with prudent risk management on a multi-year basis and generate long-term value for the Company and its Group. The renewal of this plan will be proposed to the Company's next General Meeting, and it is not planned to introduce any substantial changes with respect to the current plan.

Moreover, the General Shareholders' Meeting may establish remuneration systems (i) indexed to the listed value of its stock shares; or (ii) that involve the vesting of shares of the Company or companies of the group; stock options or instruments indexed to the share value. Under Article 24 of the Regulations of the Board of Directors, remuneration with Company shares may also be considered as remuneration for non-executive directors under the condition that they hold them until they resign their post.

The ARC considered it appropriate to seek the advice of specialized external experts in drawing up the Remuneration Policy for the Company's directors for the financial years 2022-2024, which was approved by the General Meeting on 17 June 2021, and its subsequent amendment approved by the General Shareholders' Meeting on 14 June 2022.

Accordingly, PricewaterhouseCoopers Tax & Legal, S.L. And Deloitte Legal, S.L.P., independent advisers specializing in the remuneration of directors and senior managers, advised ROVI in drawing up the current Remuneration Policy and in subsequently amending it, respectively, taking into account comparable companies in terms of size, and taking their market capitalisation as a reference, as well as the Company's business sector. For Rovi's new Remuneration Policy, which will remain in force during financial years 2025, 2026 and 2027, Deloitte Legal, S.L.P., independent expert in the field, will provide Rovi with analysis and advisory services for the drafting of the policy.

The ARC is the body that assists the Board of Directors on remuneration matters in accordance with the powers given to it for this purpose under the Regulations of the Board of Directors of the Company. Under the provisions of Article 14 of the Regulations of the Board of Directors of the Company, which includes the provisions of Recommendation 50 of the Good Governance Code of Listed Companies in Spain, the ARC drew up the amendment to the directors' remuneration policy for the financial years 2022, 2023 and 2024, and submitted it to the Board of Directors, after which it was approved by the General Shareholders' Meeting of ROVI held on 14 June 2022.

Under the aforementioned Article 14 of the Board Regulations, and Article 11 of the ARC Regulations, the ARC performs the following duties in relation to the remuneration policy:

- Propose to the Board of Directors: (i) the remuneration policy for directors and general managers or those who perform their senior management duties under the direct authority of the Board, executive committees or chief executive officers; and (ii) the individual remuneration of executive directors and the other terms of their contracts, ensuring compliance with them.
- Verify compliance with the remuneration policy established by the Company, including the periodic review of the remuneration policy applied to directors and senior management, as well as share-based remuneration systems and their application, ensuring that their individual remuneration is proportionate to that paid to other directors and senior managers of the Company.
- Ensure the transparency of remuneration and verify the information on the remuneration of directors and senior managers contained in the various corporate documents, including the annual report on directors' remuneration and the annual corporate governance report and, to this end, submit all relevant information to the Board.

It is hereby noted that, in compliance with the provisions of Article 24.1 of the Regulations of the Board of Directors at ROVI, the directors' remuneration reflected in this report is in reasonable proportion to the weight of the Company, its current financial situation and the market standards of comparable companies. Moreover, the aim of the remuneration system is to promote the long-term profitability and sustainability of the Company, and it includes the necessary precautions to prevent excessive risk-taking and the rewarding of unfavourable results, contributing to the fulfilment of the business strategy, as well as to the long-term interests and sustainability of the Company.

Furthermore, the remuneration and employment conditions of the Company's employees have been taken into account when fixing the Remuneration Policy, aligning it with the Company's general remuneration system and seeking, in all cases, to foster the recipients' commitment to the Company, personal and corporate ethics and the furtherance of strategic and sustainable development objectives. To this end, compensation is aligned with common principles of meritocracy (ensuring non-discrimination on the basis of gender, age, culture, religion or race), consistency (remuneration consistent with the level of responsibility, leadership and performance within the organisation, favouring the retention of key professionals and attracting the best talent), sustainability, social responsibility and linkage to objectives. Hence, a common structure has been defined with these conditions, establishing, in addition to fixed remuneration, a variable remuneration for the Executive Directors based on objective, well-assessed and transparent criteria aimed at ensuring that the Company's objectives are met both in its field of activity as well as in terms of the sustainability and social responsibility of ROVI.

Finally, pursuant to article 529 novodecies.6 of the Corporate Enterprise Act, the Remuneration Policy provides that the Board of Directors, following a favourable report from the ARC, may agree to apply, within the current regulatory framework, temporary exceptions to all or some of the remuneration elements described in the Remuneration Policy, depending on the particular needs of ROVI's business, as well as those arising from the macroeconomic context of the geographies in which the ROVI Group operates.

These exceptional circumstances will only cover situations where the exception to certain items in the remuneration policy is necessary to serve the long-term interests and sustainability of the Company as a whole or to ensure its viability.

Any application of an exception shall be duly recorded and explained in the corresponding Annual Remuneration Report.

This annual remuneration report has been approved by the board of directors of the company held on this date:
